STRONGER SPEEDS. SMARTER COMMUNITIES.

What does it mean to be a gig or multi-gig provider?

Smart Rural Community providers like Heart of Iowa who offer gigabit or better broadband can apply for Gig and Multi-Gig Provider status, presented by NTCA—The Rural Broadband Association, a national organization committed to helping connect communities across rural America. This recognition highlights our commitment to deploying advanced fiber networks that bring world-class speeds to rural areas—ensuring our communities aren't left behind in the digital economy.

What is a Gig?

Gig is short for gigabit per second (Gbps) which is a measure of internet speed. One Gig equals 1,000 Mbps. Most local fiber networks deliver symmetrical speeds (equal upload/download), perfect for video calls, cloud backups, farm tech uploads, and remote work.

Speed Snapshot

- ⚡ 5 Mbps – Basic browsing
- ⚡ 100 Mbps – Smooth HD streaming, video calls, multiple devices
- ⚡ 1 Gig – 4K streaming on multiple screens, gaming, remote work, smart home devices
- ⚡ Multi-Gig (2–5+ Gbps) – Instant large file transfers, seamless cloud backups, advanced home offices, VR/AR, future-ready technology

Why It Matters

Gig and multi-gig service means fewer interruptions, faster uploads, smoother streaming, and more opportunities for your household or business.
